ABSTRACT

If we look at the history of each nation, our people have been engaged in various occupations to make a living in everyday life. Our Karakalpak people also lived by fishing, which was their main profession. We would like to point out that in our article, words related to this fishing lexicon are used.

In our article we want to talk about the names of fish used in the fishing profession, the weapons used to catch them.

For example: Wearing shorts, a deer, a net, a fish whispering. We sent a white carp and a yellow carp to the army. If you come in the spring, you will eat with me. In the morning, he would go to the fields, to the carp, to the carp, to the carp, to the carp, to the carp, to the carp, to the carp, to the carp, to the carp. On a moonlit night, sitting alone on the bank of the river, he swam in the clearing of the lake. Today, 10-15 minces are planted in the so-called tartyldy, and if the stomach is dry, the stomach is hung, and most people's stomachs are full [1].

Example fish names:

Pike-perch is also a wild fish. There are two types of shorts. The ones in the sea (yellow pike) are called the ones in the lake (black pike). It is also used in canning [3].

Ola deer is a type of fish. It is so named because it can be taken anywhere. The flesh has bones and no thorns. It resembles a slag in type [3].

The stingray is the smallest of the fish, as it is called the stalk fish.

Ylapysh is a small species of squid.

White nettle - the average weight is 2–2.5 kg. Whitefish are found both in the sea and in rivers. When spraying, they come to areas with fresh water. It is often used in production in a series of canning with salting [3].

Sturgeon is a fish that is so stubborn that hunter-gatherers could not catch it right away. The meaning of the root word bek in the term Bekire may also depend on its stubbornness. In the past, fishermen used to make virgin karma, fish soup, fish pilaf, fish fry, fish kebep, and fish kebab.

Ylaqa - a species of fish called "ylapesh" in the gourd, and the smaller ones - "meshel", "black meshel" [3].

Jain is a long-lived, very large lizard, a large type of lizard [2].

Crustacean is a small species of fish.

The names of the fish used in the play are the names of the fish present in the Aral Sea. We explained the names of the fish and what they mean.

In the play it is found in the names of weapons used in fishing related to the fishing profession. For example: Balykshylar ao', nerete, jylym, balakoshka jetkerip berio ', kayik, shana, sholpy, and even kere dese asay, eskek tayao'ga shekem tayarlatyo' - usy Mateke garry'yn moynda. Some are knitting, others are crouching, and others are weaving needles into the soles of their feet. I dug again on the left and got a lot of carp and tyrandai nets from the kegey. The power of my people reached the age of many years, when our ancestors made a ship out of reeds, made a living by weaving, shanyshpay by accident, and by hook penen sholpy. Jumabay is a must-have tool for a fisherman - a hammer, an ax, a belt, a shovel, a shovel - all in one place. He put some pine nuts on it, smoked it on a piece of paper, and lit a cigar. [1]

Hunting - a net is developed for fishing. It will be batqysy with the shield of the hunt, but it will not be in the hunt. Hunting weaves are also woven in different sizes. For example: binary, six, seven, eight, and so on. There is a saying among fishermen that "we take from the gold, we eat from the seven" [2].

Narete - This tool is also often used for fishing in lakes. Its saby is made of jute, woven, the mouth is narrow in size and designed to be easy to catch when the fish falls. Nareten is also called "duo'den" in our region.

Jylym is made of kapron yarn for fishing. Jylym consists of pieces such as shontay, shield, batqy, support and rope. If the difference between warming and hunting is that it serves to catch fish, the hunt will catch the fish.

A boat is a boat used by people who go hunting, and it can accommodate several people. A boat is also called a ship.

A sledge is a weapon designed to carry snow and ice and to ride people.

A sholpy is a tool that catches fish by inserting a net into wood and iron. Tugay is a weapon woven from the tiny twigs of a willow tree [3].

A paddle is a weapon that drives this ship, and there must be two oars in a boat. There are also those who call the donkey tayao, which is related to the dialect [2].

The needle is a weapon used in weaving. That is, it is made of wood.

Accident is now one of the most ineffective weapons. Fish are caught only in lakes, shallow waters and seashores. An accidental fish cannot freeze. That is why the saying goes, "Fish in a pot, fish in a pot." It is one of the ancient weapons of our people. There are the following types of qazi: kölgəza, jaw, jaw, jaw, jaw, jaw, jaw [2].

A fishing rod is a fishing rod made of hooks for steel wire.

Suien - steel is made of metal. It is used to carve ice in winter [2].

In short, in the work of K. Sultanov we can find all the words about the fishing profession. Examples in the work are the names of fish in the fishing industry, the weapons used in fishing are common.
