INTRODUCTION

Today, when talking about our country in the world, the phrase "New Uzbekistan" is used. It is a recognition of the tremendous achievements we have made in recent years, as we have entered a completely new stage of development .

It is true to say that in the modern world, where the glorious power of our people is in full swing, the foundation is being laid for a new revival in Uzbekistan - the Third Renaissance. Because today's Uzbekistan is not yesterday's Uzbekistan. Our people today are not the people of yesterday.

Looking back at the glorious path we have traversed during the years of independence, our confidence in our future, in our own strength and capabilities, is growing. The reforms we are carrying out in all spheres and sectors in accordance with the Strategy for the Development of our country are becoming a decisive factor in this regard .

HNA history shows that innovation in this life , is most of the people other of the handle , you learn to change old patterns and standards have never been easy . Whether we like it or not, such a move will face open or hidden obstacles in any situation. In particular, the task of awakening the people, giving a new lease of life to sleepy souls, and completely renewing the governance of the state and society requires even greater responsibility, courage and wisdom from the leader who has undertaken such a great mission as a reformer.

This collection provides detailed information on how such a complex and difficult, historically necessary process is going on in the life of the new Uzbekistan. We all know how President Shavkat Mirziyoyev is launching the huge ship "Uzbekistan" to new horizons of development, in the words of political scientists, to make a historic turn in the management of the state and society .

Usually, when talking about the reforms being carried out in our country, the head of our state humbly said, "We are still researching and studying," emphasizing that we have important and urgent tasks ahead of us. Indeed, at present in our country, leaders of all levels, from the leader of the country, strive to work in new conditions, in a new environment, to seek, to study, to work on the basis of regular communication with the people.

In this sense, there is every reason to say that President Shavkat Mirziyoyev has chosen the best way to start new, democratic reforms in Uzbekistan, and that he has fully justified himself in a short period.

First, the main criterion of public policy was the improvement of living standards and quality of life of the population, the service of the people to the people, not government agencies.

Second, the establishment of active relations with the countries of the region on the basis of good neighborliness, friendship and cooperation has been declared as a priority principle in the field of foreign policy.

Third, openness to the world, the implementation of universally recognized democratic principles has been accepted as a key area of effective cooperation with the world community . These principles are reflected in the Strategy of Actions for developing our country in 2017–2021 in five priority areas, which currently serve as the main document of our national development . Strengthening peace and stability in our country, ensuring human rights, freedoms and interests in practice, improving the welfare of the people through the development of market economy principles, strengthening the spirit of friendship and cooperation in Central Asia in foreign policy, joining the ranks of developed countries was identified as the main goal of the ongoing reforms.

Uzbekistan and Kazakhstan are close brothers and partners tested for centuries. Cooperation between our countries is developing on the basis of high trust and mutual respect. Ties have been multi-faceted relations between the two countries at various levels in expanding the benefits that the gallows show .

The Uzbek- Tajik brotherhood is an important factor in good neighborliness, peace, security and sustainable development in Central Asia.

Maintaining peace and tranquility, ensuring sustainable and consistent development of our countries for future generations is our common duty,

The Uzbek and Kyrgyz people have long lived as close friends and neighbors, drinking water from the same river. Our history, cultural and religious values, traditions and customs are common.

As a result of the political will and efforts of the leaders of the two countries, cooperation between our countries, friendship and good neighborly relations between our peoples has been further strengthened. Delegations are visiting at the governmental and regional levels, and this is yielding tremendous results.

Our countries support each other in the international arena. It has been cooperating effectively within the framework of international organizations such as the UN, SCO, CIS and the Organization of Islamic Cooperation . The positions of the parties on issues of regional and international importance are consistent or close.

Our countries are interested in strengthening peace and security in the entire region. The meeting also focused on strengthening cooperation in combating international terrorism, religious extremism, drug trafficking and other threats.

ISIR spokesman said that the relations of friendship and Central Asian countries and good neighborly relations to a qualitatively new level between a first, Tajikistan , Turkmenistan, Kyrgyzstan and Kazakhstan are the result of political will, high confidence and strategic vision of their presidents.

In a short time, the countries have achieved unprecedented success in almost all areas. The volume of bilateral trade in each neighboring country has almost tripled since 2015. Although the pandemic continues, sales have increased in the first 7 months of this year compared to 2015 or 2016.

The number of joint ventures is also growing - since 2017, the number of joint ventures in Uzbekistan has almost quadrupled. In particular, if in 2017 there was one enterprise in Uzbekistan with 100% Tajik capital, today their number has reached 70, and the total number of joint ventures is more than 170.

Last year, the volume of road freight traffic between Uzbekistan and Tajikistan increased by 60%. Since 2017, Uzbekistan Airways has increased the volume of cargo traffic on the route to Tajikistan by 6 times.

At the same time, the issues in the field of borders and water and energy, which in previous years were supposedly unresolved, complex and delicate, have also been resolved.

But that all changes in the lives of ordinary citizens are not enough. For the first time in many years, they could visit their relatives and friends freely and freely.

After all, stability and prosperity in Central Asia are based on and developing reliable relations between all countries in the region.

We can strengthen stability between the Central Asian states only by resolving all sharp conflicts, creating conditions for the implementation of mutually beneficial joint projects in the field of infrastructure, energy and transport in the region. In turn, such projects will be a driver of development of our countries and a door of great opportunities for foreign investors .

Central Asia is a region of great geostrategic and socioeconomic importance. It has a population of over 74 million. Their history and culture, the economy and infrastructure of our countries are intertwined.

The first issue is the need to expand trade in the region, the need to remove existing barriers to the transition to a fully free trade regime . Long value chains can be created through industrial cooperation, innovation and the development of digital technologies.

Uzbekistan's wide position in the international arena remains a feature of the country's foreign policy under the leadership of President Shavkat Mirziyoyev.

Uzbekistan's foreign policy with neighboring countries is aimed at strengthening good neighborliness, friendship and mutually beneficial relations, creating an important basis for developing trade, economic and investment cooperation between the countries of Central Asia .
